FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE – March 16, 2020

DT Industrials will function as normal amidst the COVID-19 impact.

DT Industrials, the authorized distributor of Interlub products in the United States, is aware of the global impact of the Corona Virus – COVID19. Following the growing threat of an outbreak, we are taking preventative measures in order to stabilize the spread of the virus.

Our offices and warehouses will still function as normal, and our staff will remain reachable by phone, email and fax. Some travel has been postponed for our technical representatives, but we will remain vigilant in solving all ware handling issues and questions.

So far there is no immediate impact on logistic activities, and we will notify clients with any changes on delivery/ship dates. We plan to remain in daily contact with all our international and domestic partners and we will closely follow up on any further measures taken to lessen the impact of COVID19.

DT Industrials will do the best to assist all clients as much as possible. For more information on this topic, or for additional information regarding DT Industrial's products and services, visit www.dtindustrials.com or call +1 567 703 8550.
